

Butterfly

sung by Abie Rotenberg & Shulem Lemmer

Key: C major

rhythm approximate · words in italics go across that line

Intro (music, no words)

Verse 1

There are times when I stand by a mirror to take a close look at myself and the face that I see looking right back at me wishes it was

someone else

But there is

only one you

a fragment of light from above that would joyfully serve and cling to Hashem

if only it knew

of His love
the depth

Time to leave your cocoon,

my dear butterfly, show yourself and the world

just how very high

You can fly, you can soar

once you unlock the door,

and Hashem will be there at your side

when I hear music playing but it's more a lament than a song

I'm so used to the pain

There are times

of its tragic refrain that whispers

"You don't belong"

But there is

only one you

a Neshama most

precious and sweet

in praise of Hashem

Our lives are a chorus

and when your voice

is missing, the song's

incomplete

Time to leave your cocoon,

Chorus

my dear butterfly,
show yourself and the world

just how very high, you can fly, you can soar

once you unlock the door,

and Hashem will be there at your side

Link (music (the song goes up a key here; st

Verse 3 (same tune)

I've been told every soul sent from heaven

73

has its very own mountain to climb Though some do prevail, and I know not which fate will be mine many stumble and fail

78

But there is
only one you
with a calling of your very own
The road may be long,
a test of the heart

83

Chorus (last time)

But you'll never, no, never, have to walk it alone my dear butterfly, show yourself and th
Time to leave your cocoon,

88

just how very high
You can fly, you can soar
once you unlock the door, and Hashem will be th

92

Ending (hold)

yes, He'll always be there at our side